[1] LudwigMiller (Male): "Thank the Law. I've been requisitioning backup for months. Guess the boss finally came to his senses."
[3] LudwigMiller (Male): "You ever swung a truncheon? Let me see your rifling stance. I wanna make sure you're up to snuff."
[4] Player: "What are you babbling about?"
[6] Player: "I'll let you be."
[87] Player: "If your Resistance needs another gun, I am for hire."
[7] LudwigMiller (Male): "The war! The coming apocalypse. Man versus machine."
[180] Player: "Are you okay? You seem confused."
[88] LudwigMiller (Male): "I been gathering up a war chest over the years. Saltuna cans, mostly. Some Spacer's Chaw. Few bit carts. I'll reward you for your aid."
[19] LudwigMiller (Male): "I'm talking about mechanicals, soldier. Cold, heartless automatons made of iron and lies."
[90] Player: "Proper armies pay enlistment fees."
[21] Player: "Uh. Yeah. Gotta watch out for those mechanicals."
[91] LudwigMiller (Male): "Enlistment fees? Yeah, I suppose. Wouldn't want to give the Resistance a bad name."
[24] LudwigMiller (Male): "That's right. That's what I been saying. We gotta square our shoulders and stand ever vigilant."
[89] Player: "What do you need done?"
[27] LudwigMiller (Male): "Au. To. Mechanicals. Creatures forged in the fires of malevolence. I seen them over by the old power plant. Clattering about. Firing at the birds. Orchestrating their uprising. "
[36] LudwigMiller (Male): "They have sent a scout. Prowling around the junkyard, just behind our beloved town."
[28] LudwigMiller (Male): "When the swarms of mechanicals come clanging on over that hill, where will you be? Cowering beneath your cot? Or standing shoulder to shoulder with the Resistance?"
[37] LudwigMiller (Male): "This scout must not be permitted to return to its base of operations. Cross it off, then report back."
[174] Player: "If I'm going after this mechanical scout, I could use a couple pointers."
[175] LudwigMiller (Male): "Mechanicals got a weak spot in their midsections. I think the technical term is uh - the blue glowy square thing."