[289] Player: "I found Lamont's body."
[329] Kane (Male): "You know, a tiny part - a damn stupid part - of me hoped he was still out there. What happened?"
[330] Player: "They bought themselves a ticket off-world, but they were attacked while waiting for it."
[331] Player: "I'm not exactly clear on the details. I just found, uh... a lot of body parts."
[347] Player: "They got sloppy. Looked like mantisaurs got 'em."
[332] Kane (Male): "Damn. Well, you find our box of memories?"
[351] Player: "I did. Here you go."
[354] Player: "Yeah. I'm lucky to be alive, you know."
[340] Kane (Male): "Well, shit. Thanks for finding it, at least. Don't gotta wonder anymore."
[8] Kane (Male): "Nothing on this moon for nobody. Just a lotta heartbreak."
[366] Player: "Funny thing, I found a list of agents in that outpost. You aren't on it."
[356] Kane (Male): "Heh. Well, ain't you clever. Fine - I was supposed to pick 'em up that night. Thing is, another offer came along. Bit more lucrative."
[357] Player: "You abandoned them? They died out there!"
[358] Player: "I get it. Tell you the truth, I'd probably do the same."
[359] Player: "Let me guess. That's not a box of "memories.""
[360] Kane (Male): "And their payment almost died with 'em. Thanks to you, I can afford another round. Cheers, hero."
[361] Kane (Male): "Then you're smarter than the average rapt. Next round's on me - a token of my deepest gratitude for solving a decade-long mystery."
[362] Kane (Male): "Surely ain't. But it'll buy me some better ones."
[364] Kane (Male): "Look, I like your gumption. I was gonna share the bits, but here's a couple extra."
[365] Kane (Male): "Now go on - leave an old man to his past."
[368] Player: "All right, I'm going."
[369] Player: "Ugh, I should have kept those bits."