[21] ConstableReyes (Female): "Something to report?"
[32] Player: "I'm here to turn in a bounty."
[133] Player: "How did so many of your people end up marauders?"
[77] Player: "I've got some questions for you, if you don't mind."
[33] ConstableReyes (Female): "We pay by the finger. What do you have for me?"
[134] ConstableReyes (Female): "Let me stop you there. It is official Spacer's Choice policy that all marauders, regardless of prior affiliation to the Spacer's Choice brand, no longer qualify as "our people.""
[70] ConstableReyes (Female): "As long as your questions fall within acceptable margins of curiosity."
[35] Player: "<Hand over Guillaume Antrim's finger.>"
[36] Player: "<Hand over Doc Maybell's finger.>"
[38] Player: "<Hand over Bertie Cotton's finger.>"
[44] Player: "Actually, there was something else."
[138] Player: "All right. Forget I asked."
[140] Player: "Sounds like marauders have been a problem for a while."
[136] Player: "That doesn't really answer my question."
[83] Player: "Never mind."
[79] Player: "So who do you work for? Spacer's Choice or Edgewater?"
[34] ConstableReyes (Female): "Gill Antrim. Real name Guillaume. Duly processed by a freelancer on behalf of Spacer's Choice."
[37] ConstableReyes (Female): "Maybell Burgess. Age thirty-seven. Right or left handed? Let's just say... no longer applicable."
[39] ConstableReyes (Female): "Here we are. Bertie Cotton. Cause of death - let's just say overwhelming physical trauma."
[139] ConstableReyes (Female): "Something else I can do for you?"
[141] ConstableReyes (Female): "Ever since the company first settled the Vale. Life's good out here, but it ain't easy. Some folk can't keep pace with the demands of frontier life."
[135] ConstableReyes (Female): "Marauders are folk who lost the will to keep working. Wandered out into the wilds and gave in to their baser instincts. "
[80] ConstableReyes (Female): "If this is the setup to a joke, you should know I've never found anything amusing in my life. "
[60] ConstableReyes (Female): "I remember him. Was just a kid, last I saw him. Shame."
[61] ConstableReyes (Female): "I remember Doc Burgess. Conducted my physical every fiscal quarter. Guess she couldn't keep her hands off her patients' medicine."
[62] ConstableReyes (Female): "Bert was the local preacher, before Max took over. Always was quick to remind us that we all get what we deserve in the end."
[137] ConstableReyes (Female): "Not everybody's cut out to work in Edgewater. Some turn deserter. Some turn marauder. None of 'em get my sympathy."
[103] ConstableReyes (Female): "I don't serve Edgewater. Edgewater, and the entire region of Emerald Vale, serves Spacer's Choice."
[43] ConstableReyes (Female): "Still one outstanding bounty. If you've got a finger, I've got the paperwork."
[41] ConstableReyes (Female): "Well, that's all three. I must remember to requisition some more fingerprint ink. Here's all the compensation you've earned, plus a bonus."
[40] ConstableReyes (Female): "I'll just need your signature here, here, here, here, and here. Got any more fingers for me?"
[148] Player: "Marauders seem to like Adrena-Time."
[105] Player: "That sounds like slavery."
[82] Player: "Thanks for your time."
[63] Player: "What's this? Junior Deputy Constable?"
[22] Player: "Goodbye."
[149] ConstableReyes (Female): "Everybody likes Adrena-Time. It is the finest medical drug ever developed by Spacer's Choice. Much better than that crap Auntie Cleo peddles."
[108] ConstableReyes (Female): "Careful, stranger. Talk like that comes dangerously close to sedition."
[42] ConstableReyes (Female): "You've done such a bang up job hunting down our former workers that I thought it only proper to deputize you. Congratulations."
[150] ConstableReyes (Female): "Sure, a little too much Adrena-Time can bring out the violent animal in you. But if overdosing on Adrena-Time turns you into a lunatic, you have only yourself to blame."
[104] Player: "Who does Spacer's Choice answer to?"
[144] ConstableReyes (Female): "Says so right on the warning label. Violent psychosis is a well-documented and legally accounted-for side effect of Adrena-Time."
[109] ConstableReyes (Female): "Spacer's Choice is a wholly owned subsidiary of Universal Defense Logistics, which occupies a seat on the Halcyon Holdings Corporation."
[147] Player: "That's all for now."
[145] Player: "There was something else I wanted to ask you."
[110] ConstableReyes (Female): "Also known as the Board. I must admit, it bothers me that you don't already know this."
[146] ConstableReyes (Female): "What's on your mind?"
[106] Player: "So you're basically a bureaucrat."
[107] ConstableReyes (Female): "Flattery won't get you anywhere with me. The bureaucracy is a noble profession, but not all of us are gifted enough to serve in it."
[111] Player: "There was one other thing."