[89] MinisterClarke (Male): "When you reach the HHC building, this access card should get you up to the executive suites. Where the Chairman's office and what used to be my office are."
[120] Player: "What used to be your office?"
[121] MinisterClarke (Male): "Oh, I haven't been allowed up there in years. I shudder to think what Rockwell's done with the place. "
[262] MinisterClarke (Male): "A gilded minibar, perhaps? A personal theater? The man has too much money and too little sense."
[91] Player: "Then I'll be on my way."
[128] MinisterClarke (Male): "Wait! Rockwell has one of the only terminals capable of transmitting to the Earthbound message drone. This is our chance. "
[521] MinisterClarke (Male): "Please, take this and transmit it from his office. Rockwell hasn't given me any messages from Earth for years - he's desperate to keep me out of contact with the Earth Directorate."
[94] MinisterClarke (Male): "But they need to know what's happening here."
[259] Player: "Why are you trusting me to help you?"
[260] MinisterClarke (Male): "Why indeed? I know so little about you, much less your motivations..."
[433] MinisterClarke (Male): "But I'm afraid I don't have many options, confined as I am. "
[261] MinisterClarke (Male): "Besides, I've nothing to lose. If you're looking into Rockwell, I can only hope you're also looking out for Halcyon."
[95] Player: "What's on the cartridge?"
[432] MinisterClarke (Male): "What ISN'T on it is the real question! "
[131] MinisterClarke (Male): "I've gathered meeting minutes, internal messages, sustainability reports, and more, all exposing the corruption and mismanagement plaguing Halcyon. "
[132] MinisterClarke (Male): "Once the rest of the Earth Directorate sees it, they'll have to send help."
[263] Player: "How long will that take?"
[133] Player: "Good plan."
[264] MinisterClarke (Male): "Depending on the nature of their response? Months, at least. Perhaps years."
[265] MinisterClarke (Male): "Organizing and sending personnel all the way out here is no mean feat."
[134] Player: "That's idiotic."
[267] Player: "But if it works, it'll be worth it."
[268] Player: "This is a waste of time."
[136] MinisterClarke (Male): "Perhaps there is hope, after all."
[266] Player: "Well, it's something."
[135] MinisterClarke (Male): "In the name of the Architect. What hope is there if this is our best chance? "
[183] MinisterClarke (Male): "And now I entrust it to you. Good luck, and trust no one in the Acropolis District."
[434] MinisterClarke (Male): "It's all I can do. Please, won't you at least try?"
[385] Player: "No promises."
[130] Player: "You can count on me, Minister Clarke."
[435] MinisterClarke (Male): "Then I suppose I can only hope. Good luck."
[436] MinisterClarke (Male): "Good. Halcyon is in dire need of someone like you."