[1] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "Hey. Careful. Don't go running around in the middle of a crime scene."
[2] Player: "What happened to Celeste?"
[3] Player: "I didn't think this kind of thing happened here."
[4] Player: "I can handle myself."
[5] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "You mean Ms. Jolicoeur. She was reported for practicing a subversive aesthetic. "
[7] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "Strange times we live in. Radicals and dissidents living within the walls of Byzantium, hiding in plain sight. Never imagined Ms. Jolicoeur was one of them."
[8] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "You say that, but subversives work in subtle ways. Ms. Jolicoeur's art was found in violation of the Board's cultural standards."
[16] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "We found her in her office working on something perverse. She didn't cooperate, so we had to put her down."
[6] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "Never took her for a dissident sympathizer. "
[9] Player: "You killed Celeste? That's insane!"
[10] Player: "Did you really have to kill her? We were doing business."
[11] Player: "<Attack> Murderer!"
[17] Player: "I'll leave you be."
[12] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "No argument there. Feels like the whole colony's going insane, what with dissidents infiltrating the walls of Byzantium."
[14] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "Byzantium security regrets any disruption to regular flow of commerce. However, cultural and moral hygiene must always be maintained."
[13] ByzTaskForceCommander (Female): "Byzantium cultural standards are enforced by Universal Defense Logistics. Universal Defense Logistics - your first and last line of defense in the war against sedition."
[18] Player: "Excuse me."