

Invited talk

A Tale of Two Technologies

Fred Hollowood,
Symantec,
Dublin, Ireland.

The presentation looks at machine translation in terms of the rapid deployment of communication technology in the last years. It looks at the new influences entering the translation market, the expectations of consumers, enterprises and political institutions and the influence of the major industrial players on the rest of us. It offers a view on what opportunities exist and examines our attempts to enter these markets.